Cerro Author 2017-2018

Our Cerro Author visit is quickly approaching! Michael Eric Dyson will be on campus on February 8 to give 3 student-focused forums during the day as well as 1 public presentation in the evening. Anyone in the Bakersfield community is welcome to attend the public presentation at 7 P.M. in the Indoor Theatre.

To help initiate discussion about Michael Eric Dyson’s body of work, the library has prepared a LibGuide that contains information about Dyson and his works, as well as information on research related to Tears We Cannot Stop: A Sermon to White America.

Library Faculty Services—Let us help you!

The library is here to help your students succeed in their academic careers… but we’re also here to help faculty! Below are 5 library services all faculty can take advantage of. If you have questions about any of these, or would like to contact the library regarding any of these services, please call the Reference Desk at 661.395.4466 (Delano Library: 661.720.2015), or use the “Contact Us” page on the library website to get in touch with a particular librarian.

Reserve Books

Instructors may place books, copies of articles, and other course-related materials at the library circulation desk for students to borrow for a specified time period. To see what books are on reserve, click the “Reserve Materials” tab in the BC library catalog, and search by course number or instructor’s name.

Ordering Library Books

Did you know that all faculty can make book purchase requests? The library welcomes suggestions from faculty for curriculum-related books and library materials that will enrich the library’s collection. This is an opportunity for faculty members to lend us their expertise in building our subject-area collections.

Research Project Design

The librarians would love to work with you to create research projects and assignments that correspond to the BC Library collection. By collaborating with a librarian on your research project design, you’ll be confident that you are directing students to use resources accessible through our library. This collaboration also lets the librarians know what kind of questions to be expecting from students, so we’ll be ready with our best answers for them!

In addition, working with the library on your research project design allows us to create lists of resources for your students as they conduct research. We can even create LibGuides for your specific assignment or topic to help your students get a head-start on their research. To see LibGuides we’ve created for other faculty’s research projects, go to bakersfieldcollege.libguides.com.

Research Orientations

Wish your students’ research papers and skills were better? We would love to partner with you for a class orientation specific to your assignment and subject area! A reference librarian will tailor-make a lesson according to the specifics of your research assignments and teach it to your class. To schedule an orientation, contact Kirk Russell at krussell@bakersfieldcollege.edu or 661.395.4625.

Research Skills Workshops

We offer six different hour-long research skills workshops at several times during each semester. These workshops introduce students to library resources and basic research methods. The current schedule is located at: bakersfieldcollege.edu/library/workshops

We will provide instructors a list of their students and the workshops they have attended after the workshops end.
