Welcome!

Cynthia Mock: Adjunct Librarian

Cynthia Mock is currently teaching research and assisting with prison reference. She has years of experience in libraries with subject matter specialties in technology, business, art, digital art, film and research. She is currently working on a second master’s degree in Information Technology in addition to her completed master’s in Library and Information Science. She will be available in the Tehachapi Center on Mondays and Wednesdays from 10-1pm.

OER Taste Test Event Success

We celebrated the global Open Education Movement, March 4th-8th, with an interactive informative display in the IWV LRC. On March 5th, students were invited to sample Open Education Textbooks and compare them with traditional textbook formats. We also handed out cupcakes and cuties (for a healthier option) to students that participated in a short survey. We had a wonderful turnout and students are eager to participate in the OER movement for Cerro Coso!

Contact Sharlene Paxton to learn more about how OERs make college more affordable for students.

Libguides

LibGuides are here! Explore subject research guides full of books, videos, websites and other resources. Visit cerrocoso.libguides.com/ and let us know what you think!

NEW iPad App: Anatlab Histology

After a recommendation from Professor Guck Ooi the library added a new app. Anatlab Histology is a valuable study resource for Biology and Nursing Students. The iPads are available at the circulation desk for checkout.

Screenshot of a histology microscopic slide image found on the app.
Fifth Graders Visit IWV

We had over 300 students visit the library during the “I am Going to College” event. Students had a fun time playing pirate plagiarism bingo complete with a treasure chest of prizes! On Wednesday, students were treated to a visit from our enthusiastic mascot, Bookie the Backpack. After the event, Bookie toured the campus taking spontaneous selfies with students and staff!

Creativity Abound During Poetry Month!

Staff and students created magnetic poems, sensational similes and tossed around some haikubes to celebrate the month of poetry!

Follow us:

Instagram: @cerrocosolibrary
Facebook: Cerro Coso Community College Library