Three out of every 10 Californians ages 18-24 are currently enrolled in a community college.

Over 75% of all undergraduate students in the state are educated at California community colleges.

Students who earn a degree or certificate from a California community college nearly double their earnings within three years.

Attending or graduating from a community college doubles an individual's chance of finding a job compared to those who failed to complete high school.

Over 55% of California community college students are people of diverse ethnic backgrounds and over 53% are female.
